

THz Metamaterials

W. J. Padilla and R. Averitt

Los Alamos National Laboratory, USA

THz time domain spectroscopy (TDS) is used to characterize the frequency dependent electromagnetic behavior of both electric and magnetic metamaterials. Time dependent response and dynamical tunable electromagnetic behavior is studied throughout the terahertz frequency regime.